

County Raid Warning Plan Tops on Coast

In a report made to the Board of Supervisors this week, Harold W. Kennedy, executive director of the Los Angeles County Defense Council, said that Los Angeles county and the Torrance area had the most rapid air raid warning system on the Pacific Coast.

Kennedy has just returned from an inspection trip of control rooms and civilian defense installations as far north as Canada and said he found reason to be proud of the progress made by the county defense group.

"Our standard time of two minutes and 15 seconds to warn the 45 cities and 12 Sheriff's Substations within the county limits is by far the most rapid such service of its kind along the coast," Kennedy told the board.

He found elaborate systems operating that took as many as 10 minutes to warn territory limits the size of Los Angeles county. He also found primitive air raid warning systems along parts of the Canadian coast which consisted of rifle shots from one air raid warden to another.

Guard Faces Loss Of Members With Reopening of School

The opening of school means a serious loss to Company H, California State Guard because about 15 members will return to their studies.

Men from 18 to 62 are needed for guard duty in this vicinity. Compensation for privates is $2 per day and includes lodging, food, medical and dental care. Minor physical defects will not disqualify men for service.

Here is a call for men to serve their country, for this company is guarding vital positions. Men past 40 who have complained of the discrimination against them in business and industry, are not debarred from enlistment in the California Guard.

Navy Secretary Lauds Heroism Of Lomita Nurse

A story of devotion to duty, of loyalty to the pledge of Florence Nightingale, that can never be told until this war is over, is hinted in a letter received this week by Mrs. W. R. Paige, mother of Eldene Paige, from Secretary of Navy Frank Knox.

A letter from the National Red Cross, also received this week bears the same intimation that the 11 Navy nurses, doctors and staff of Canacao Hospital, 30 miles from Manila, volunteered to stay with their wounded patients when the fall of the Philippines seemed imminent.

There were 13 nurses on duty at the hospital when Miss Paige entered it on a transfer from Guam. One was an Army nurse and later reported to the Army, one friend of Miss Paige was sent back to the United States on sick leave, leaving 11 who are carried on the Navy roll as missing and possibly prisoners.

First News of Staff Mrs. Paige has been informed that her cousin, L. M. Kime of Lynwood, who was taken prisoner while employed at Wake Island, is one of the Americans who will arrive on the exchange ship due home shortly. His name had been listed as missing or a prisoner.

J. J. Stevens of Harbor City, Pharmacist Mate—First Class, was also a member of the Canacao staff and hope is felt that the heroic band, although prisoners of war may have been permitted to continue the work of mercy and care of the wounded.

The letter from Secretary Knox is the first news in months about the staff but Mrs. Paige is informed that her daughter was known to have been at Canacao as late as May 7. Her daughter cabled her late in December and sent Christmas greetings but no letter or direct message has been received since.

'SONNY BOY' IN JUNGLE

Al Jolson, the veteran black-face mammy singer, has hit what he calls the real "big time" in his long career.

This news came from Ancon, Panama, the other day in a dispatch revealing that Jolson, unheralded by the slightest publicity and wholly at his own expense, is hard at work singing for the most appreciative audiences in his memory—the soldiers on duty at scattered Canal Zone posts. A news correspondent—not a press agent—wrote that no outpost terrain is so tough, no gun post so remote, no lonely jungle crew too small, for Jolson on his mission to make soldiers laugh and forget their homesickness.

The families of boys down there will be glad to know that Al Jolson has taken "Mammy" and "Sonny Boy" into the jungles.

And show people, ever generous in giving of their talents to bring entertainment to men in the service, will know what Jolson means in saying he's getting "the biggest kick I ever got out of anything in my life."

FROM NORTHWEST Mrs. C. W. Bower and daughters, Shirley and Violet, of 1515 Acacia ave., returned last week from a five weeks' vacation spent in the Northwest and Fresno.

Mental Disorders Not Confined to Any Age

Neither youth nor old age has a monopoly on mental disorder. Records from files of admission to state mental hospitals during the 1941-42 fiscal year show that the youngest patient admitted was a 4-year-old boy. The oldest was a 108-year-old Folsom convict transferred to Stockton State Hospital.
